

Abya Yala: Voces Emergentes desde América Latina y el Caribe

Leadership: Sabrina Mariño (Argentina) and Alexandre A. Martins (Brasil).

Languages: Spanish and Portuguese

Purpose: Embracing the encouragement of the CTEWC to create Virtual Tables that seek “facilitate and promote debate among theological ethicists,” the CTEWC Latin American and Caribbean region is launching a new VT that aims to promote new and young voices of theologians working with ethics in the region and their global dialogue with other members in the network.

The VT Abya Yala: Voces Emergentes desde América Latina y el Caribe aims to foster a new generation of theological ethicists in the region of Latin America and Caribbean, who are beginning their journey in this discipline, offering new perspectives to address new and historically socio, cultural, and ecclesial challenges in the region. Rooted in their land, a new generation of theologians seek to do Catholic theological ethics from Latin America and Caribbean.

Reporting Methodology: Co-chairs (Sabrina Mariño and Alexandre Martins) will coordinate the meetings, the VT agenda, and report them to CTEWC.

Call for members: Abya Yala: Voces Emergentes desde América Latina y el Caribe aims to promote a new generation of theological ethicists who are from Latin America and Caribbean region, and their partners around the world, interested in the theological issues raised in this region, by addressing ethical issue in dialogue with new epistemological perspectives. If you are interested in learning more about this VT and/or joining it, please contact Sabrina Mariño at: sabrina.marino@usal.edu.ar.
